

Mehmet Sercan Erturk

Professor of Endocrinology,

İzmir Katip Çelebi University School of Medicine, Turkey

Biography

Dr. Ertürk is a professor of Endocrinology and Metabolism at İzmir Katip Çelebi University School of Medicine, Atatürk Training and Research Hospital, İzmir, Türkiye. Dr. Ertürk received his medical degree from Marmara School of Medicine in 2006, completed internal medicine residency in İzmir Training and Education Hospital in 2011, and then completed fellowship in endocrinology and metabolism at the University of Pamukkale in 2013. His areas of expertise include minimally-invasive treatments for benign thyroid nodules and parathyroid adenomas. He is a reviewer for several major scientific journals in his field and has served as a consultant in minimal invasive therapies for thyroid and parathyroid disease.
